service providers, analytics providers) and may receive information about you from them. This may be combined with other information you provide to us.

6. How your information is used

We may use personal information about you for the following purposes:

- to provide you with relevant information and news.

Upon expiry of the applicable retention period, we will securely destroy your data in accordance with applicable laws and regulations.

7. Who has access to your information

We will not sell your information to third parties. We will not share your information with third parties for marketing purposes. We may pass your information to third party service providers, agents, subcontractors and other associated organisations for the purposes of completing tasks and providing services to you on our behalf (for example to process and store information and to send you mails).

8. Your choices and your rights

You have various rights in relation to our processing of your personal data, depending on the applicable data protection law, e.g. the right to request a copy of the personal data that we hold about you. There are exceptions to this right, so that access may be denied if, for example, making the information available to you would reveal personal data about another person, or if we are legally prevented from disclosing such information.

You also have the right to inform us not to process your personal information for marketing purposes. You can exercise your right and prevent us from processing such information by checking or unchecking certain boxes on the forms we use to collect your data. You can also exercise the right at any time by using the option to unsubscribe contained in the newsletter or by contacting us by email at privacy@ton.org.

10. Security measures to protect your information

When you give us personal information, we take steps to ensure that it's treated securely.

Non-sensitive details such as your email address may be transmitted unencrypted over the Internet, and so may not be guaranteed to be 100% secure. While we strive to protect your personal information, we cannot guarantee the security of any information you transmit to us, and you do so at your own risk. When we receive your information, we make our best effort to ensure its security on our systems.

11. Profiling

We may analyse your personal information to create a profile of your preferences and interests so that we can contact you with information relevant to you. We may make use of additional information about you when it is available from external sources to help us do this effectively.

12. Newsletter

The provisions of this Privacy Policy also apply to the request for and sending of newsletter.

The newsletter will only be sent after a prior request by the user in the so-called “double opt-in procedure” (request on our website and confirmation of a corresponding request email).

Users of the newsletter are also assigned a user ID, which allows TON Foundation to determine when the relevant newsletter was opened and which links or functions from the relevant newsletter were activated. This tracking is done for internal optimization of the newsletter. This data will not be passed on to third parties. If required, the legal basis for our processing is our legitimate interest, whereby TON Foundation’s authorization arises from the fact that, on the one hand, TON Foundation has an interest in evaluating such data for purposes of newsletter optimisation and, on the other hand, a concerned person can reasonably foresee at the time when the personal data is collected and in view of the circumstances under which it is carried out (in particular the above-mentioned measures) that it will possibly be processed for this purpose. The user has the right to withdraw his or her consent at any time. If the user of the newsletter does not wish to receive this tracking, he/she can unsubscribe from the newsletter. To do so, simply unsubscribe via the link in the newsletter or send an email to privacy@ton.org. The withdrawal of consent shall not affect the lawfulness of processing based on consent before its withdrawal.

13. Use of Cookies

Our site(s) use cookies to distinguish you from other visitors of our site. Cookies are small text files that may be stored on your computer (or other internet enabled devices, such as a smartphone or tablet). We also share information about your use of our site with our social media and analytics partners who may combine it with other information that you have provided to them or that they have collected from your use of their services.

Your consent applies to the following domain: www.ton.foundation. We use the following cookies:

- Strictly Necessary Cookies

These cookies are necessary for the website to function and cannot be switched off in our systems. They are usually only set in response to actions made by you which amount to a request for services, such as setting your privacy preferences, logging in or filling in forms.

These cookies enable basic functions like page navigation and access to secure areas of the website. The website cannot function properly without these cookies.

14. Links to other websites

Our website may contain links to other websites run by other organisations. This Privacy Policy applies only to our website, so we encourage you to read the privacy statements on the other websites you visit. We cannot be responsible for the privacy policies and practices of other sites even if you access them using links from our website.

If you link to our website from a third party site, we cannot be responsible for the privacy policies and practices of the owners and operators of that third party site and recommend that you check the policy of that site.

15. If you are 18 or under

We are concerned to protect the privacy of children. If you are aged under 18, please get your parent/guardian's permission beforehand whenever you provide us with personal information.

16. Where we store your personal information

The data that we collect from you may be transferred to, and stored in, a country outside Switzerland or the European Economic Area (EEA). It may also be processed by staff operating outside the EEA who work for us. The laws in some countries may not provide the same legal protection for your information as in Switzerland or the EEA. We only transfer data to these countries when it is necessary for the performance of a contract or for the exercise or defence of legal claims, or if such transfer is based on your explicit consent or subject to safeguards that assure the protection of your data, such as the European Commission approved standard contractual clauses.

The transmission of information via the internet is not completely secure. Although we will always do our best to protect your personal information, we cannot guarantee the security of your information; any transmission is at your own risk. Once we have received your information, we will use good procedures and strong security features to try to prevent unauthorised access.

17. Updating and changing this Privacy Policy

Due to continuous development of our website and the contents thereof, changes in law or regulatory requirements, we might need to change this Privacy Policy from time to time. Our current Privacy Policy can be found at our website www.ton.foundation/privacy.
